Program Presentation by Ted Lawson

Correspondence Editor: Tom Masterson

Message from our President

Dear Artists,

I am happy to announce that Ted Lawson, will be presenting at our November meeting. Ted is a contemporary artist who designs and paints in watercolors. When Ted is not painting in watercolor, he may be found taking photos for his sketchbook, teaching watercolor, traveling the world looking for people and things to paint, and spending time exhibiting watercolor paintings at his Cleveland gallery space. Ted says watercolor painting is involved in what he is all about. He believes making art is his means of self- expression and self- fulfillment. Each painting he makes allows him to relive an experience and to discover that experience from a new perspective. We are very fortunate to have Ted share his passion for watercolor with us!

Ted is from Indiana but grew up in Phoenix, Arizona. He is a US Navy veteran who deployed three times to Yankee Station during the Vietnam conflict. He was always interested in art, but not enough to attend art school. He chose engineering instead. However, he studied with the best watercolor teachers he could find and was coached by his favorite teacher, Bette Elliot.

Currently, Ted and his family live in Canton, Ohio. He is a Signature Member of the American Watercolor Society and is represented by the Gallery, 78th Street Studios, in Cleveland, Ohio.
