COWS By-laws:

Transparent watercolor only may be used as the painting medium. "Transparent watercolor" is defined as paint so marked and advertised as "watercolor" by the manufacturer. Thus all other water-based media and any white paint shall not be used. The paint may be applied directly as it comes from the tube or pan, or diluted with water. No other material shall be permanently added to the painting surface or mixed with the watercolor medium, except graphite pencil may be used for the initial structural drawing. The surface on which the watercolor is applied shall be paper, sized only by the manufacturer. No additional substance shall be applied to the support material nor any other support surface used.

Paintings copied from photographs, other than your own, or during a workshop or classroom situation are not eligible.

COWS BYLAWS Article I: "The purpose of the society is to further interest in, and status of, the use of transparent watercolor for the benefit of each member and for the development of public interest in the medium". COWS BYLAWS Article II Section A:

Qualifications: Individuals interested in furthering the use of transparent watercolor form of artistic expression with demonstrated skills of professional quality who live in central Ohio.

The Central Ohio Watercolor Society was founded in 1964 and is the preeminent transparent watercolor society in the region. Modern technology has produced many new "water media" products, referring to any medium that is water soluble, and there are many societies that present opportunities to exhibit work created with these new products. However, the Central Ohio Watercolor Society remains dedicated to its original purpose to promote and preserve the unique character of transparent watercolor. We have over 100 members and most of the members are award winning artists with regional and national reputations. More information can be found on our web site, www.centralohiowatercolorsociety.com.
